Drip, a highly versatile table collection ideal for office spaces and restaurant interiors, is now available in updated colour combinations.

Renowned Danish designer Hee Welling is known for creating furniture that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing. The Drip table collection, designed with an eye for the contract market, is no exception. Its sleek and durable design is now available in new colour combinations to complement any interior.

The &Tradition design team carefully selected the nine new colours for the tabletop and glossy edge band, giving customers the option of a monochrome look or a playful, contrasting colour pairing. In addition, five mix-and-match combinations are now available.

Knowing that contract market clientele require pieces to be flexible, Welling devised the Drip series as an adaptable table system that can be easily assembled within a few minutes. Drip's aluminium structure allows for a slender profile that can be easily placed end-to-end with additional tables as needed. Cable management is offered as an add-on solution.

Welling's design philosophy is also reflected in Drip's minimalist appearance. The table is made with as few materials as possible, with only the high-gloss edge band providing a light visual effect. Its simplicity is intentional, as Welling explains: "When you decorate an office or restaurant, it's going to become messy. With that in mind, this table system is made to be as simple as possible so that it can blend in anywhere and provide calm to its surroundings."

Drip's base comes in two options: Black or bronzed. Its tabletop is available in Fenix laminate, linoleum, and an oak or walnut veneer. Drip is available as a dining table with a height of 74cm, a counter table that stands at 95cm and a bar table at 105cm. All tables come in several sizes, with extra legs added after three metres. Drip's maximum length is five metres.

Drip offers versatility, durability, and understated style to any office or restaurant environment. &Tradition is proud to introduce this new and improved table design, with colour combinations to add personality, contrast and interest.

Raised in the Danish countryside, Welling's lifelong appreciation for the outdoors can be seen in his fondness for natural materials. This translates to all aspects of his creations, resulting in a simple and honest minimalism that brings a striking visual identity to his pieces. In addition to being exhibited at fairs and museums worldwide, his products can be found in a diverse array of interiors, from the Oslo Opera House to Australia's parliament.
